

SPEAK BETTER ENGLISH, BETTER SERVE YOUR CUSTOMERS

English course for F & B Professionals

Hong Kong is an international world city. While Cantonese is spoken everywhere, we all know that the lack of English proficiency is a common complaint by both non-Chinese speaking residents as well as foreign tourists.

This course is designed to help F&B professionals communicate accurately and effectively in English within the F&B context, enabling them to present information accurately, listen and comprehend effectively, and speak English with accuracy and confidence.

Students should have some knowledge of English and will be assessed to determine their level of competency. Course is tailor-made to help each student speak better English in their everyday working environment.

Course instructor Lina Kao, BA in Speech (media & communications), is certified to teach English to speakers of other languages (CTESOL). Her teaching experience includes private and group lessons for children as well as adults.
